

TempWeb 2016 Chairs' Welcome Message

Time is a key dimension to understand the Web. It is fair to say that it has not received yet all the attention it deserves and TempWeb is an attempt to help remedy this situation by putting time as the center of its reflection. Studying time in this context actually covers a large spectrum, from the extraction of temporal information and knowledge, to diachronic studies for the design of infrastructural and experimental settings enabling a proper observation of this dimension.

For its sixth edition, TempWeb accepted six out of eleven submissions for oral presentation. We interpret the high quality of the submissions and the frequent contributors to TempWeb, as indicators of an evolving community. It shows a clear sign of a positive dynamic in the study of time in the scope of the Web and evidence of the relevance of this effort. The workshop proceedings are published by ACM DL as part of the WWW 2016 Companion Publication.

We hope you will find in these papers as well as the keynotes of Wolfgang Nejdl (L3S Hanover, Germany) and Omar Alonso (Microsoft, USA), and the discussion and exchanges of this edition of TempWeb, some motivations to look more into this important aspect of the Web.

TempWeb 2016 was jointly organized by Caen University (Caen, France), Yahoo Labs (Sunnyvale, USA) and Internet Memory Foundation (Paris, France).
